Hansen Mortuary – Rupert, Idaho

He waited every night for over four years. Each night he would say the same prayer. "My dearest love, when will you come and get me? I miss you so and want to be in your arms tonight; forevermore". A giant of a man in his prime. Afraid of nothing. Now, he is frail and seemingly broken; but it is his heart that is in pieces. Missing his wife, the only love of his life. Why did she have to leave him all alone? He would of given anything to have gone first. Heartbreaking for all to see; this giant man still waiting. The sky is lit up with lightening. Is that her? Is she here? I heard you speaking to her last night. Is she taking you with her? Finally in her arms, forevermore.

A luncheon will be served at the McGregor Building on the Minidoka County Fairgrounds immediately following the burial service.

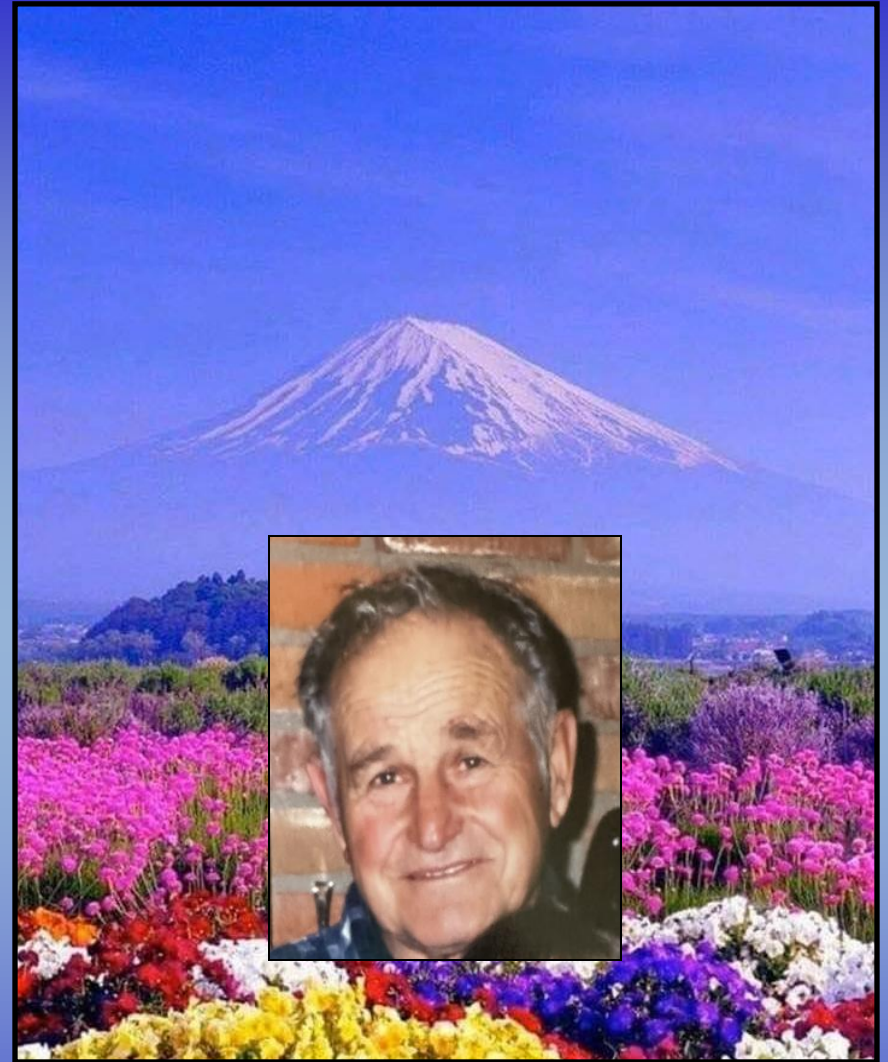

Your hands so strong and sure.
 You tamed this land and made it yours.
 Built a home and raised a family, sturdy just like you.
 Proud, hardworking farmers and ranchers.
 Your hands older with time and wear, caring and fair.
 Your heart missing your partner with whom to share.
 Your hands soon to be reunited with those so soft and waiting for you. Your hands so strong and sure; rest now, as you will always be a giant of a man to me.
