

MY DARLING WIFE
by Richard J. Scarr
(East Sussex, England)

God knew you'd reached your limits.
And had truly done your best.
To live by his Commandments.
And now was time for you to rest.

Though tired from your endeavours.
Still you tried to carry on.
Giving so much of yourself,
till all your strength was gone.

He knew that if he let you.
You'd keep going till you drop.
But good soul that you truly are.
It was time for you to stop.

He put his arms around you.
And in a gentle tone.
Said: "Though the earth be poorer for it.
Child! It's time I took you home."
