Hands of Love

*These hands are old and wrinkled and worn
Through many long years of toil,
There are many scars that tell of the past
And a heart that is true and loyal.*

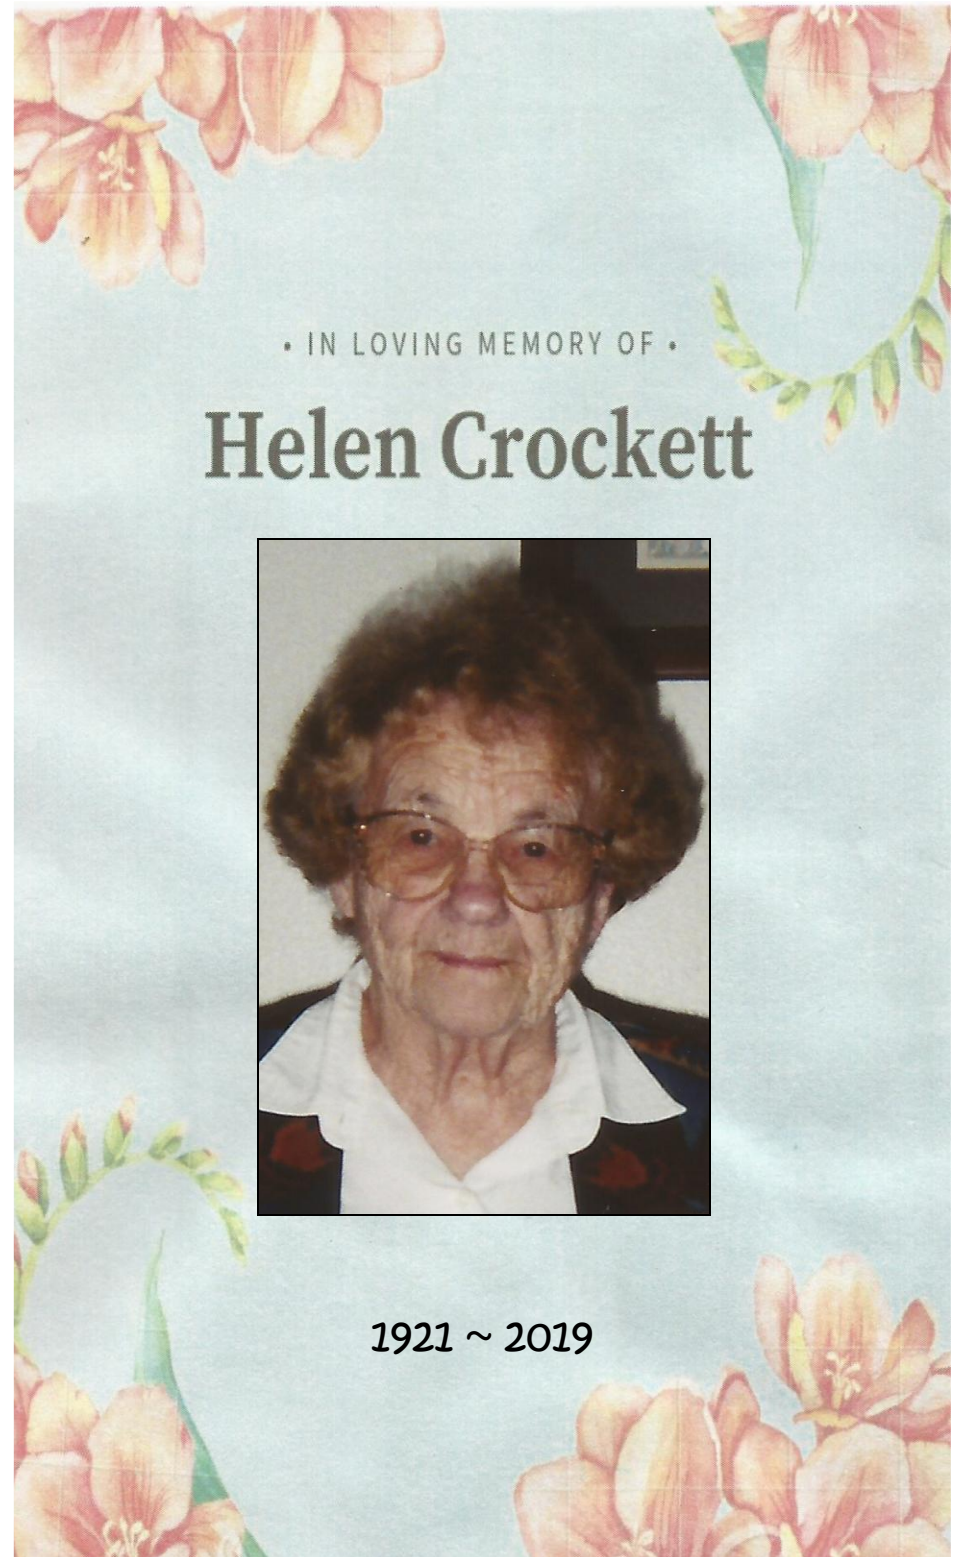

*These hands have dried tears,
Put a patch on a shirt,
Darned a sock with a hole in the heel,
Bandaged a hurt on a little one's hand,
Where the skin had been bruised and peeled.
These hands have shown love with a tender touch
To a family and friends by the score,
They were always there for someone in need,
From cooking to mopping the floor.
These hands are now still, their beauty is gone
Unless you are privileged to see,
Through the eyes of love, a radiant glow
Seen only by you and me.*

*In another place in a far off world
Where they need busy hands every day,
God called His angel back home again
I will see them again, I pray.*
